

Christopher Lundgren

Christopher Lundgren is the Social Science Lead at Kehilla High School in Nashville, TN. Over two decades he has taught six different AP courses as well as history, government, and economics resource classes for students who need additional support. He has taught at a Title 1 Charter schools, elite private schools, and now at a Jewish day school for Jewish and non-Jewish students in Nashville.

Since 2018, Christopher has served the College Board as an APSI Consultant and as an Exam Reader and Mentor for AP U.S. Government. In 2020, he was part of a two-person team that wrote daily APGov lesson plans for the KIPP Foundation's AP for All initiative, which are used by KIPP teachers throughout the country. The following year, he revised those lessons to reflect best practices for culturally responsive teaching of the APGov curriculum.
