

Jennifer Garner

I have taught high school for 32 years in a variety of ELA subjects, including AP English Language and Composition, AP Seminar, and AP Research. My College Board experience includes being an AP Reader, Table Leader, Mentor, and Workshop Consultant. In addition to teaching, I am a literacy specialist and instructional coach at a suburban school of about 1,500 students in Hot Springs, Arkansas. As a National Board Certified Teacher, I am passionate about ensuring all students succeed in AP courses and bring my passion, experience, and knowledge to my work as a mentor and consultant, helping teachers whose students struggle in advanced placement courses because they are ELLs or have reading or learning difficulties. Although I have many professional roles, I devote most of my time to working with students and teachers in the classroom.